Introduction

Public relations professionals work in a wide range of industries, including business, government, and non-profit organisations. The majority of organisations recognise the media's impact on their business objectives and reputations. To protect and strengthen one's position and credibility in the industry, members of management must be able to deal with and communicate effectively with the media.

The goal of this course is to develop creative skills for managing media communication and public relations strategies. It will teach you the proper channels of communication as well as some useful techniques for using them. It also teaches you how to write for various media outlets and target different types of audiences.

Course Objectives for Building Effective Media Relations

- Learning how to handle Media in good and bad times.
- Learning how to handle the publicity, public image, and publications of the organisation effectively.
- Acknowledging the media effect and the different types of Media.
