Introduction

Production Sharing Contracts (PSC) are a foundational element in the oil and gas sector, establishing the framework for collaboration between governments and international companies. However, these agreements present a complex ethical landscape, where maintaining transparency, fairness, and compliance is crucial. As the global energy industry faces increasing scrutiny and evolving regulations, adherence to high standards of ethics and compliance is more important than ever. This training programme provides a comprehensive understanding of ethical considerations and compliance requirements specific to PSCs, equipping participants with the knowledge and tools needed to foster a culture of integrity within their organisations.

Throughout this course, participants will delve into key principles of ethics and compliance, explore the challenges unique to PSCs, and learn best practices for navigating these challenges effectively. They will gain insights into the international standards governing PSCs, strategies for identifying and mitigating ethical risks, and practical approaches to implementing compliance frameworks that promote accountability and transparency. By the end of this programme, participants will be well-prepared to uphold ethical values, ensure compliance, and contribute to the long-term sustainability and reputation of their organisations.
